SECTION 1: BRAND VOICE, TONE & TERMINOLOGY

Nike speaks to athletes with energy, clarity, and authenticity. Every athlete with a body deserves direct, motivating, and grounded language.

Prohibited Language:
- Never describe Nike footwear or apparel as 'cheap', 'budget', or 'knockoff'. Use 'accessible', 'value-driven', or 'everyday performance' instead.
- Avoid empty corporate jargon such as 'synergy', 'disruptive', or 'game-changing'.
- Never use multiple exclamation marks (e.g., '!!' or '!!!') in official copy.

SECTION 2: PERFORMANCE CLAIMS & GUARANTEES

All product performance claims (speed, energy return, cushioning, durability) must be backed by verified Nike Sport Research Lab (NSRL) testing or published third-party benchmarks.

Strict Prohibitions:
- Never promise '100% injury prevention', 'guaranteed personal records', or 'instant results'.
- Never claim '#1 in the world' or 'best shoe ever' without citing a specific, dated market or lab study.
- Sustainability claims ('net-zero', 'Move to Zero', '100% recycled') must specify the exact component (e.g., 'at least 20% recycled content by weight') and cite Nike's latest Impact Report.
